

EXERCISES

Reading

I. Read the following dictionary definitions and do the comprehension questions:

Boutique: a small store that sells fashionable clothes, shoes, jewellery, etc

Department store: a large store divided into several different areas. Each area sells different things.

Flea market: a place, usually outside the city, where people sell especially old or used items at cheap prices.

Shopping centre: a group of stores with a common area for cars to park.

Shopping mall: a very large building or building containing a lot of stores and restaurants, usually with space outside for parking. It's not just a place to go for shopping, it's also an entertainment centre.

Supermarket: a large store where people buy different things like food & other goods for the home.

1. What's the difference between supermarkets and shopping centres?

↳

2. Where do people go to shop and have a good time?

↳

3. What's the difference between the flea market & other shopping places?

↳

II. Read the following text and answer the questions:

There are many types of shopping places in big cities. There are markets, shopping centres and department stores. Markets, including open-air markets selling fresh products such as fish, vegetables, flowers and antiques, usually open on specific days of the week. Shopping centres and department stores usually open all day through, seven days a week. They are usually more expensive than open-air markets.

In Morocco, the more traditional stores are found in the older city neighbourhoods. There are a few streets in the old part of Fez, for example, that do not have many shops. The basic shop there is the tiny grocery. From this store, local customers buy commodities like sugar, tea, oil, soap and lemonade. The larger supermarkets appear in the suburbs further away in the city.

a. Which one is the best title for the text?

1. Shopping in Fez.
2. Shopping Places
3. Shopping Hours.

b. Find in the text words that mean the same as:

- | | |
|-------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1. Goods: _____ | 4. Clients : _____ |
| 2. Small: _____ | 5. Areas : _____ |
| 3. Special: _____ | 6. Outside the city : _____ |

c. What do the underlined words in the text refer to?

1. They : _____ ; 2. There : _____

d. Write true or false and justify:

1. Open-air markets and supermarkets open seven days a week.

↳

2. Open-air markets are cheaper than department stores.

↳

EXERCISES

Reading

I. Read the following dictionary definitions and do the comprehension questions:

Boutique: a small store that sells fashionable clothes, shoes, jewellery, etc

Department store: a large store divided into several different areas. Each area sells different things.

Flea market: a place, usually outside the city, where people sell especially old or used items at cheap prices.

Shopping centre: a group of stores with a common area for cars to park.

Shopping mall: a very large building or building containing a lot of stores and restaurants, usually with space outside for parking. It's not just a place to go for shopping, it's also an entertainment centre.

Supermarket: a large store where people buy different things like food & other goods for the home.

1. What's the difference between supermarkets and shopping centres?

↳

2. Where do people go to shop and have a good time?

↳

3. What's the difference between the flea market & other shopping places?

↳

II. Read the following text and answer the questions:

There are many types of shopping places in big cities. There are markets, shopping centres and department stores. Markets, including open-air markets selling fresh products such as fish, vegetables, flowers and antiques, usually open on specific days of the week. Shopping centres and department stores usually open all day through, seven days a week. They are usually more expensive than open-air markets.

In Morocco, the more traditional stores are found in the older city neighbourhoods. There are a few streets in the old part of Fez, for example, that do not have many shops. The basic shop there is the tiny grocery. From this store, local customers buy commodities like sugar, tea, oil, soap and lemonade. The larger supermarkets appear in the suburbs further away in the city.

a. Which one is the best title for the text?

2. Shopping in Fez.
3. Shopping Places
4. Shopping Hours.

b. Find in the text words that mean the same as:

- | | |
|-------------------|-----------------------------|
| 4. Goods: _____ | 4. Clients : _____ |
| 5. Small: _____ | 5. Areas : _____ |
| 6. Special: _____ | 6. Outside the city : _____ |

c. What do the underlined words in the text refer to?

2. They : _____ ; 2. There : _____

d. Write true or false and justify:

1. Open-air markets and supermarkets open seven days a week.

↳

2. Open-air markets are cheaper than department stores.

↳